Ministerial foreword

The Department of Basic Education (DBE) has pleasure in releasing the second edition of the Mind the Gap study guides for Grade 12 learners. These study guides continue the innovative and committed attempt by the DBE to improve the academic performance of Grade 12 candidates in the National Senior Certificate (NSC) examination.

The study guides have been written by teams of experts comprising teachers, examiners, moderators, subject advisors and coordinators. Research, which began in 2012, has shown that the Mind the Gap series has, without doubt, had a positive impact on grades. It is my fervent wish that the Mind the Gap study guides take us all closer to ensuring that no learner is left behind, especially as we celebrate 20 years of democracy.

The second edition of Mind the Gap is aligned to the 2014 Curriculum and Assessment Policy Statement (CAPS). This means that the writers have considered the National Policy pertaining to the programme, promotion requirements and protocols for assessment of the National Curriculum Statement for Grade 12 in 2014.

The Mind the Gap CAPS study guides take their brief in part from the 2013 National Diagnostic report on learner performance and draw on the Grade 12 Examination Guidelines. Each of the Mind the Gap study guides defines key terminology and offers simple explanations and examples of the types of questions learners can expect to be asked in an exam. Marking memoranda are included to assist learners to build their understanding. Learners are also referred to specific questions from past national exam papers and examination memos that are available on the Department's website – www.education.gov.za.

The CAPS editions include Accounting, Economics, Geography, Life Sciences, Mathematics, Mathematical Literacy and Physical Sciences. The series is produced in both English and Afrikaans. There are also nine English First Additional Language (EFAL) study guides. These include EFAL Paper 1 (Language in Context); EFAL Paper 3 (Writing) and a guide for each of the Grade 12 prescribed literature set works included in Paper 2. These are Short Stories, Poetry, To Kill a Mockingbird, A Grain of Wheat, Lord of the Flies, Nothing but the Truth and Romeo and Juliet. Please remember when preparing for Paper 2 that you need only study the set works you did in your EFAL class at school.

The study guides have been designed to assist those learners who have been underperforming due to a lack of exposure to the content requirements of the curriculum and aim to mind-the-gap between failing and passing, by bridging the gap in learners' understanding of commonly tested concepts, thus helping candidates to pass.

All that is now required is for our Grade 12 learners to put in the hours required to prepare for the examinations. Learners, make us proud – study hard. We wish each and every one of you good luck for your Grade 12 examinations.

Dear Grade 12 learner

This Mind the Gap study guide helps you to prepare for the end-of-year Grade 12 English First Additional Language (EFAL) Language in Context exam.

There are three exams for EFAL: Paper 1: Language in Context; Paper 2: Literature; and Paper 3: Writing.

There are nine great EFAL Mind the Gap study guides which cover Papers 1, 2 and 3.

Paper 2: Literature includes the study of novels, drama, short stories and poetry. A Mind the Gap study guide is available for each of the prescribed literature titles. Choose the study guide for the set works you studied in your EFAL class at school.

This study guide focuses on the skills and knowledge you will need to prepare yourself for Paper 1: Language in Context.

How to use this study guide

This study guide looks at the three sections of the Paper 1: Language in Context curriculum:

- Section A: Comprehension
- Section B: Summary
- Section C: Language structures and conventions

In sections A and B, you are taken through a step-by-step approach to writing a comprehension and summary question in the exam.

In Section C: Language structures and conventions of this study guide, the following areas are covered:

- Analysing an advertisement
- Analysing a cartoon
- Language use in context

There are also worked examples of grammar questions.

In all the sections of this study guide, there are activities based on exam questions for you to practise your skills. Answers are given for all questions so that you can assess your progress as you revise.

	Pay special attention		Worked examples		Step-by-step instructions
	Hints to help you remember a concept or guide you in solving problems		Activities with questions for you to answer		Refers you to exam questions

Top 7 study tips

1. Break your learning up into manageable sections. This will help your brain to focus. Take short breaks between studying one section and going onto the next.
2. Have all your materials ready before you begin studying a section – pencils, pens, highlighters, paper, glass of water, etc.
3. Be positive. It helps your brain hold on to the information.
4. Your brain learns well with colours and pictures. Try to use them whenever you can.
5. Repetition is the key to remembering information you have to learn. Keep going over the work until you can recall it with ease.
6. Teach what you are learning to anyone who will listen. It is definitely worth reading your revision notes aloud.
7. Sleeping for at least eight hours every night, eating healthy food and drinking plenty of water are all important things you need to do for your brain. Studying for exams is like exercise, so you must be prepared physically as well as mentally.

On the exam day

- 1. Make sure you bring pens that work, sharp pencils, a rubber and a sharpener. Make sure you bring your ID document and examination admission letter. Arrive at the exam venue at least an hour before the start of the exam.
- 2. Go to the toilet before entering the exam room. You don't want to waste valuable time going to the toilet during the exam.
- 3. Use the 10 minutes' reading time to read the exam instructions carefully. Remember that you must answer ALL the questions in the three sections of Paper 1: Language in Context.
- 4. Read through each exam extract carefully so that you fully understand it.
- 5. Break each question down to make sure you understand what is being asked. If you don't answer the question properly you won't get any marks for it. Look for the key words in the question to know how to answer it. You will find a list of question words on page xii of this study guide.
- 6. Manage your time carefully. Start with the question you think is the easiest. Check how many marks are allocated to each question so you give the right amount of information in your answer.
- 7. Remain calm, even if the question seems difficult at first. It will be linked with something you have covered. If you feel stuck, move on and come back if time allows. Do try and answer as many questions as possible.
- 8. Take care to write neatly so the examiners can read your answers easily.

Comprehension

A comprehension tests your understanding of the meaning of a text or message that you have read.

In this section, you will learn the steps that will help you to answer the comprehension question in the exam:

1. The exam comprehension
2. Text A: Written extract
3. Text B: Visual text
4. What is expected from you in the exam?

1. The exam comprehension

The comprehension question in the exam has two parts – Text A and Text B:

- Text A is a written extract.
- Text B is a visual text. It includes a picture, for example, a photograph or a drawing. It will also include some words linked to the picture.

The exam questions based on these two texts will test your ability to:

- Make sense of what you read and respond to it.
- Understand the literal meaning; and the deeper, figurative meaning of a text.
- Understand the writer's intention or purpose in writing the text.
- Appreciate the text and reach conclusions by forming your own opinions about the text.
- Evaluate the effectiveness of the text in terms of its purpose.

In this study guide, you will find examples of how to answer the comprehension question based on the questions and answers from past exam papers. You will be shown how to approach the exam question by:

- Reading the exam instructions carefully so that you understand what the examiner requires you to do.
- Reading through an exam extract carefully so that you gain the most understanding from it.
- Reading the exam questions carefully so that you understand how to answer them.

vocab

Appreciate: To give an opinion on a text based on your own view.

Evaluate: To assess or judge a text.

Steps to writing the written comprehension question

There are three main steps involved in writing a comprehension question in the exam:

2. Text A: Written extract

The first part of the comprehension question is Text A. It includes a written extract and questions. You will need to read the extract carefully and then answer questions on it. When you answer the questions, follow this three-step reading process:

Step 1 - Skim and scan the text extract and questions

Step 2 - Read the text carefully

Step 3 - Answer the questions

Step 1 - Skim and scan the text and questions

Look over the text quickly (skim) to get an idea of what the text is about.

Take note of things such as:

- How many paragraphs there are in the extract;
- The title of the extract, which may also offer a clue to the content of the passage and the writer's intention;
- The headings and sub-headings;
- Who wrote the text and where it came from, if this information is given;
- Key words and names;
- Topic sentences;
- Unfamiliar, unusual or difficult words;
- The introductory paragraph – it often creates the atmosphere and provides the setting for what is to follow; and
- The final paragraph – it usually summarises the extract.

Then, quickly look at (scan) the questions. This will give you an idea of what kind of information to look for when you read the text again. Notice things such as:

- Names of people or places; and
- The question words and instructions.

Spend about 5 minutes on Step 1 (for text A).

vocab

Skim: To read through the text and the questions to quickly to get an idea of what they are about.

vocab

Scan: To look quickly through a text for specific information, for example, names of people or places.

Step 2 - Read the text carefully

When you read the extract, take time to read it closely so that you understand what you are reading. Once you have read the text, think about the 'W-H' question words: who, what, where, when, why, how.

- WHO are the characters (in a fiction text) or the people written about (in a non-fiction text)?
- WHAT is the main idea in the extract?
- WHERE do the events in the extract take place?
- WHEN do the events in the extract take place?
- WHY has this text been written?
- HOW does the writer express himself or herself? What type of language has the writer used?

As you read, consider both the literal and figurative meaning of words, phrases and sentences. For example, 'the story touched my soul' does not literally mean that a story touched your soul, but figuratively that it had an emotional effect on you.

Step 3 - Answer the questions

Read the questions. As you read through them, jot down any answers that immediately come into your mind in the 'rough work section' of your answer book.

Take a minute to think about what each question asks you to do. Here are some tips for answering comprehension questions:

- The mark allocation indicates the number of points required. For example, if the question is for 2 marks, you need to make two points.
- Look for the key words or topic sentence in each paragraph – it often suggests what each paragraph is about. (Sometimes a paragraph does not have a topic sentence.)
- Do not copy directly from the text, unless you are asked to quote. Try to answer the questions in your own words, using full sentences.
- If you are asked to give a synonym or antonym of a word, use the same part of speech and tense as the original word. For example, replace a noun with a noun (joy – happiness); and a verb with a verb (look – stare; looked – stared).
- Avoid starting sentences with conjunctions such as "but" or "because".
- Do not confuse TRUE/FALSE questions with YES/NO questions. Do not write T/F for TRUE/FALSE. Always back up a TRUE/FALSE or YES/NO answer with a reason unless the question specifically says that all you need to do is give the one-word answer.
- When asked to quote a phrase, remember that a phrase refers to a group of words without a verb, for example, 'in the morning'. If asked to quote consecutive words, keep to the required number of words.

vocab

Key words and topic sentences show the main ideas in the paragraph.

vocab

Consecutive words:
Words that follow one after the other, with no other words between them.

Activity 1

Read TEXT A and answer the questions that follow.

Text A

1. In South Africa, more than 8 million children currently receive social grants from the state. The Department of Social Welfare regards 1,5 million children as orphaned or vulnerable, but only 500 000 of these children have been placed in foster care, leaving a large number still waiting to be placed. Another cause for concern is that 20 000 households in our country are headed by children. Only 1 900 children are adopted in South Africa every year. 5
2. Poverty is often a root cause of child abandonment, threatening the hopes and dreams of these innocents. A mended pair of pants still shows its damage, and so it is with children who adapt to their environment but carry scars with them throughout their lives. Yet every so often someone comes along and does a great patch-up job. 10
3. They say home is where the heart is. For the children of House Jerome, in Irene, the joy on their faces is proof of this. At first glance, you would not know that many were abandoned in dirty toilets or on rubbish dumps.
4. The family home of Basil and Dehlia Fernie serves as a shelter for abandoned babies and children seeking crisis care. Living in a household with 10 children who are not your own seems like a job for an abnormal person. Why would anyone choose this lifestyle? For the past 28 years they have opened up their home to more than 300 children; nurtured and cared for them. Their purpose is to provide a stable place of safety which will help prepare these children for long-term foster families or potential adoptions. 15 20
- 5 The Fernies are a happy couple with a good sense of humour. After many years of being involved in children's ministries, they established House Jerome as a means to help children in need. With four biological children already, their home became a playground filled with love and dedication. 25
- 6 I notice Basil drinking coffee out of a mug with a picture of a teddy bear on it. What seems like a job that could truly drive a person insane is, in actual fact, the source of peace and contentment in their lives.

The key words have been underlined in the first five paragraphs to show you how to do this.

vocab

Attention Deficit Disorder (ADD):

A condition causing people not to be able to concentrate on something for a long period of time.

7. One such example is the story of Jerome. At only ten days old, he was taken to House Jerome and set up for a possible adoption. It is just coincidence that the little boy carried the same name as the shelter. This encouraged the Fernies to adopt him as their own. Jerome was one of the first adoptions by a family from a different race. A decision that was unheard of before the 1994 elections has become a worldwide trend in recent years. Jerome confesses his upbringing was never focused on growing up with white parents. "I am here, this is me and this is my home. My family is just as normal as yours." 30
8. Jerome has had to face a number of challenges in his life, such as Attention Deficit Disorder (ADD), academic failure and a struggle with drug addiction. Now 19, he is an optimistic young man about to write his matric. Dehlia notes that even though these children come with baggage, you cannot blame rejection for a child's wrongdoings. In the end, it was her love and commitment that saw Jerome through his teenage troubles. The family works closely with social workers to ensure a detailed screening process is done before all placements, and the majority are given the gift of a happy ending. 35
9. While some come and go, for Basil and Dehlia the joy lies in seeing how the child has grown and knowing they played a role in making a difference. 40

vocab

Synonym: A word that has the same, or similar, meaning as another word in English.

hint

To answer question 2.2, you must not copy sentences directly from the text. Your "OWN words" does not mean your own opinion. It means you must re-write the text according to how you understand it.

A TRUE or FALSE answer must always be supported by a strong reason. If you only write the word TRUE or FALSE, you will get no marks.

Any Two of these answers to question 8 will earn you 2 marks.

A visual text is a picture or image that is linked to words.

3. Text B: Visual text

The second part of the comprehension question is Text B. Text B is a visual text – it has a picture and some text, followed by some questions.

Steps to writing the visual comprehension question in the exam

When you read a visual text, follow these steps:

vocab

Facial expression:

How people's faces show emotion, for example, a smile shows happiness.

Body language: How people move, stand or sit, and what they do with their hands to show how they feel.

Gesture: How people use their hands to show emotion or to emphasise what they are saying.

Step 1 - Look at the picture

Look at ALL the details in the picture. For example:

- What is the content of the picture? If there are people in the picture, what are they doing? Where are they?
- The facial expressions of the people in the picture;
- The body language of the people in the picture;
- The gestures the people are using in the picture;
- The use of light and darkness in the picture;
- The positioning of each part of the picture – what is in the front, background or centre of the picture?; and
- Think about the mood created by the picture.

Step 2 - Read the words and link them to the picture

Read the words in the heading of the picture and the words below the picture.

- Look at the picture again.
- Think about how the words support what you see in the picture.

Step 3 - Answer the questions

Read the questions for Text B and answer them.

Activity 2

Look closely at the image and the text below, and then answer the questions that follow.

Text B

JOURNEY TO CONFIDENCE

When you are self-assured, you can tackle challenges head-on. But self-belief does not come naturally to everyone. Sometimes you need some help on the way to a more confident you.

In Text B,
the words and the picture are always linked.

Questions

- Refer to the following:
'... you can tackle challenges head-on.'
The word 'head-on', in the context of TEXT B, means ...
A facing challenges directly.
B hitting challenges with your head.
C thinking about challenges often.
D avoiding challenges.
- In your OWN words, explain what is meant by 'journey to confidence'.
- How is the idea of self-confidence supported by the picture?

(2)

[5]

hint

To answer question 1, write down the question number and the correct letter and/or words.

'Head-on' is a saying or idiom. It means to face something directly.

Answers to Activity 2

1. A/ Facing challenges directly. ✓ (1)
  2. Confidence is not achieved easily. ✓
It takes some time to become confident. ✓ (2)
  3. The girl is smiling and looking confident. ✓

4. What is expected from you in the exam?

In the exam, the comprehension question is worth 30 marks out of 80 marks for Paper 1. You must answer both parts of the comprehension question – Text A and Text B.

Text A is an extract of between 600 and 700 words. You will need to read the extract carefully and then answer the questions based on the extract.

Text A is worth 24 marks.

Text B is a visual text. It includes a picture, for example, a photograph or a drawing. It will also include some words related to the picture.

Text B is worth 6 marks.

The exam is two hours long and you should spend about 50 minutes on the comprehension question.

Section B

Summary

A summary is a shortened version of a longer text. It keeps the basic meaning of the text. It contains relevant facts and accurate information from the text. It does not contain details from the text, for example, direct quotations.

In this section, you will learn the steps that will help you to write the summary question in the exam:

1. The exam summary
2. Writing a summary
3. What is expected from you in the exam?

1. The exam summary

In the exam for Section B: Summary, you will be instructed to:

- Read a text of about 250 words;
- Write a summary of the text in point form. Write SEVEN points using no more than 70 words in total. Make sure each point is numbered.
- Write only one point per sentence. Each point must be a complete sentence;
- Not quote or copy sentences directly from the text. Use your own words, as far as possible; and
- Count your words when you are finished and write the total number of words down underneath your summary.

Think of a summary as the skeleton of a fish. You are given a whole fish and you have to extract the bones only. The shape of the fish stays the same, just as the basic meaning of the extract or text stays the same.

vocab

Keep to the topic means that you keep to the main idea or message in each of your seven points.

2. Writing a summary

A good summary should contain seven correct points that keep to the topic and are expressed clearly. You should use your own words, as far as possible. Your summary should not contain grammar, spelling or punctuation errors.

Steps to writing a summary in the exam

There are five steps involved in answering a summary question in the exam.

Step 1 - Read the question

- Read the question carefully. The question will tell you what the summary is about.
- Look for the key words in the question. These will guide you so that you know what information to look for in the text extract.
- Read the instructions.

Step 2 - Read the text extract

- Read the text extract carefully.
- Underline key sentences that are related to the topic in the question.

Step 3 - Plan your summary

- Look at the key sentences or phrases you have underlined. Make sure that they focus on the topic.
- Number each sentence to check that you have identified seven points.

Step 4 - Draft and edit your summary

- Write a draft summary – your list of seven points – in your own words.
- Edit your work by correcting any errors.
- Count the number of words to check whether you need to write more or edit (cut) your text down.

vocab

Key words and key sentences link to the main idea or topic in the extract.

Step 5 - Write your final summary

- Write your final summary of seven points.
- Cross out your draft.
- Count the number of words and write an accurate word count in brackets at the end of your summary.

Be honest in your word count!
If you write more than 70 words, the examiner will only mark up to 70 words

Worked example: Summary

Here is an example of a summary question from a past exam paper. Try to do the summary, following the steps on the next page. When you have finished, compare your summary to the example on page 18.

Read the question and instructions carefully.

Question

The summer holidays are approaching. You have been asked to write a list of SEVEN safety tips for this period. Use the following passage to compile your list.

Read the passage (TEXT C) below and write a list of SEVEN main points for inclusion in your list.

Instructions

1. List SEVEN points in full sentences using NO MORE than 70 words.
2. Number your sentences from 1 to 7.
3. Write only ONE point per sentence.
4. Use your OWN words.
5. Indicate the total number of words you have used in brackets at the end of your summary.

Text C

PLAY IT SAFE THIS SUMMER

ÉcoleBooks

Summer is here and those long winter days of being cooped up in the house are all but gone. But while we want to have fun, warmer weather comes with many hidden dangers, some of which can be fatal. The hot summer weather attracts all South Africans to water, but it is not just a pool that can pose a drowning risk. Our country also has many rivers, dams and beaches. Regardless of their swimming ability, children should never be allowed in the water without adult supervision.<sup>1</sup>

Avoid sunburn. Applying a good sunscreen and reapplying often is vital.<sup>2</sup> This goes for all skin types. Use a good product and wear a wide-brimmed hat for extra protection.<sup>2</sup> Active people who sweat a great deal become dehydrated easily. Drinking plenty of fluids to prevent dehydration is essential.<sup>3</sup> Water, milk and fruit juices are ideal, but drinks containing caffeine should be avoided.

Insects carrying diseases love bushy areas as much as nature lovers do. A person showing signs of fever, headache or fatigue may have been bitten by an insect. To avoid being bitten, use long-lasting insect repellent and treat clothes with it too.<sup>4</sup> Food poisoning is no fun. Use caution when eating food from picnic baskets in hot weather.<sup>5</sup> Pack food in insulated containers and keep it cool with ice bricks.

At a playground, ensure that all equipment is safe and be careful of hot surfaces<sup>6</sup> like metal slides which can cause serious burns. Always adhere to safety regulations because a fun ride on a scooter or skateboard without protective gear might end with you landing in hospital.<sup>7</sup> A few simple precautions can ensure a healthy, happy summer in the great South African outdoors.

[Adapted from YOU PULSE, 3 November 2011]

Step 1: Read the question

The question says:

‘The summer holidays are approaching. You have been asked to write a list of SEVEN safety tips for this period. Use the following passage to compile your list.’

The key words in the question are safety tips. This will be the topic of your summary.

vocab

Key words are words that link to the main idea or topic in the extract.

The topic in this extract is safety tips.

Step 2: Read the text extract

- Read the text extract carefully.
- Underline key sentences that are related to safety tips. This has been done in the extract on page 16 to show you how.

Step 3: Plan your summary

- Make sure each of the sentences focuses on safety tips.
- Number the underlined sentences to check that you have identified seven points. This has been done in the extract on page 16 to show you how.

Step 4: Draft and edit your summary

- Write a draft summary – your list of seven points – in your own words.
- Edit your work and correct any errors.
- Count the number of words to check whether you need to write more or cut down the number of words.

notes

Writing summaries using the imperative form

A useful way to write your summary for a text like this, which is about giving instructions, is to use the imperative form for each of your sentences.

The usual word order in an imperative sentence is:
verb + object, without a subject.

For example, a sentence states: “Everyone must follow all safety rules.”

You can change this to the imperative form by dropping the subject (“Everyone”) and the auxiliary verb (“must”).

Now your sentence reads: “Follow all safety rules.”

This is an imperative sentence.

Using imperatives will cut down the number of words in your summary.

An imperative sentence is an order or instruction. “Sit!” is an imperative sentence of just one word!

Step 5: Write your final summary

- Write your final summary of seven points. Number the points. Cross out your draft.
- Count the number of words and write an accurate word count at the end of your summary.
- The table below shows how the seven points identified in the text have been rewritten in point form. The most important facts have been drawn from the extract. It is an example of a good summary using the imperative form. It has a total of 67 words.

Answer to Worked example: Summary

Point	Relevant part of Text C	Summary in point form in own words

Activity 3

Question

Last year has been one of the most exciting yet stressful years of your life. You have been asked to talk to your fellow learners at the next school assembly on how to manage stress.

Read the passage (TEXT C) below and write a list of SEVEN points for inclusion in your talk.

Instructions

1. List SEVEN points in full sentences using NO MORE THAN 70 words
2. Number your sentences from 1 to 7.
3. Write only ONE point per sentence.
4. Use your OWN words.
5. Indicate the total number of words you have used in brackets at the end of your summary.

Note that the key words in the question are “manage stress”. All seven of your points must focus on this topic.

Text C

BEAT THE BURN

We live in a stressful world. The general truth is that stress is not something that happens to you, but something you do to yourself. The good news is that there are a few things you can do to turn your stress into joy.

Our thoughts create stress.

When you have negative pictures in your mind, deliberately change them into positive thoughts and paint the best possible pictures in your mind. Repeat this as many times as it takes. The purpose of meditation is to keep your attention in the present moment, away from stressful thoughts that are in the past or future. When your mind runs away, mentally relax and focus on your breathing. When you are stressed, you deprive your body of precious oxygen. At regular intervals, take ten deep breaths in and out, feeling your stomach move. Visualise oxygen going to your toes, fingertips and brain. Creativity takes your mind away from difficult issues, forcing you to focus on the task at hand. Being creative can, therefore, help you feel good while creating something beautiful.

Any form of exercise rids the body of unfriendly hormones. Exercise causes your body to release hormones which will leave you feeling great. Science has proven that laughing can beat illnesses, including cancer. Laughing rids the body of bad chemicals. Fill your diet with vegetables, fruit, nuts, lean meat and fish. Limit your caffeine intake which will not only stabilise your blood-sugar level, but also your mood. Do not have too many late nights as you could be deprived of sufficient rest.

Only you can turn your stress into joy.

[Adapted from Longevity, June 2009]

There are eight answers here. You can use any seven answers for your seven points.

Answers to Activity 3

5. Exercise to rid the body of harmful substances. ✓
6. Laughter helps to heal the body. ✓
7. Eat healthy foods. ✓

Remember to use the five steps when writing your summary.

3. What is expected from you in the exam?

In the exam, the summary question is worth 10 marks out of 80 marks for Paper 1.

The examiners are looking for seven correct points that keep to the topic and are expressed clearly, using your own words. They must not contain grammar, spelling or punctuation errors. Each correct point will earn a mark; and 3 marks will be given for correct language use.

The exam is two hours long and you should spend about 30 minutes on the summary.

For more practice on summaries, go to these past exam papers:

- November 2010, page 7, Question 3
- November 2011, page 8, Question 2
- Feb/March 2013, page 7, Question 2

Remember practice makes perfect! Practise writing summaries to do well in the exam.

Section C

Language structures and conventions

The exam for Section C will test your knowledge of language structures and conventions. This will include:

- Vocabulary and language use;
- Sentence structure; and
- Writing and editing skills.

It will also test your visual literacy skills and your ability to critically analyse a text so that you understand what is being communicated.

In this section, you will learn the steps that will help you to write the advertisement, cartoon and language parts of the exam:

1. Visual literacy
2. Critical language awareness
3. Analysing an advertisement
4. Analysing a cartoon
5. Language

You will find examples of how to answer the questions in Section C, based on questions and answers from past exam papers. When answering the questions, you must:

- Read the exam instructions carefully so you understand what the examiner requires you to do;
- Read the exam questions carefully so that you understand how to answer them; and
- Answer the questions according to the exam instructions. Pay attention to your use of language, grammar and spelling.

In this section, pay special attention to your grammar and spelling!

A person who is literate is able to read and write. A person who is visually literate can make sense of images or pictures.

1. Visual literacy

Visual literacy is the ability to make meaning of information presented in the form of an image. In other words, if you are visually literate you understand what the drawings in a cartoon, or the drawings or photographs in an advertisement, are communicating to you.

In order to answer exam questions that are based on advertisements or cartoons, you need to be visually literate because advertisements and cartoons include both words and images (drawings or photographs).

2. Critical language awareness

To be critical when reading, viewing or listening means to analyse the material so that you can understand what is really being communicated.

When you study advertisements and cartoons, you should watch out for:

- Emotive or manipulative language. Advertisers use emotive (emotional) language and images to persuade us to buy products.
- Stereotyping. A stereotype is a misleading idea of someone or something as a type, with no regard to the truth about the actual person or thing. The ideas that 'all children are noisy', 'women belong in the kitchen' or 'strong men don't cry' are examples of stereotyping. We know that not all children are noisy, women do not all belong in the kitchen and many strong men do cry.
- Prejudice or bias. This is close to stereotyping. It is a way of thinking that makes us believe that we know something about a whole group of people, and that makes us feel good or bad about them, no matter what the facts are. Racial, religious and political prejudices are very common.
- Lies. People often lie to make you believe or do something, so we forget to ask: 'Is this the truth?' For example an advert may promise 'Our miracle diet pills will turn you from plump to slender in only three weeks.' You are not also told that you will lose weight only if you exercise and eat a healthy diet at the same time, and what, exactly, 'plump' and 'slender' mean.
- Association. When two things are associated in your mind, you may feel that they 'go together'. For example, if you are told about beautiful people who use Whammo deodorant and who have lots of fun, you are being asked to believe that if you use Whammo deodorant you will become like the beautiful people and have lots of fun. Even great music in a TV commercial can persuade you that the product being advertised will make you feel as good as the music does.

3. Analysing an advertisement

The purpose of advertising is to persuade someone to buy a product (for example food or clothing); or to do something (for example, to stop smoking or to vote in an election). Advertisements also announce events (for example, Mandela Day or a sporting event) and inform the public about jobs or services that are available.

vocab

To persuade: To try to convince a person to do something or to influence or guide a person's thinking.

Advertisements come in many forms:

- Printed advertisements, which may be:
  - Advertisements containing words and images in newspapers and magazines;
  - Short advertisements in newspapers using words only, called classified advertisements;
  - Posters on walls, or streetlight poles, or notice boards;
  - Flyers (loose sheets of paper handed to people in the street or dropped into post boxes); and
  - Catalogues (booklets advertising all the products made by a particular company or sold by a particular store).
- Radio commercials
- Television and film commercials
- Advertisements on smart phones and on the internet

Advertisements attract people's attention by:

- Using layout and colours which draw attention to specific words;
- Being amusing or clever;
- Featuring attractive or interesting people and places;
- Using catchy slogans and phrases, for example, 'Betty's buns are better';
- Promoting a bargain; and
- Playing interesting music (television and radio).

When you study advertisements, think about:

- What is being advertised? How do I know?
- Who is likely to be interested in/ who would like to buy this product?
- How do the designers of the advertisement try to make the product appealing?
- What is the meaning of the words they use? Why do they use these words?
- What does the picture (drawing/photograph) show? Why has this picture been chosen?
- If I had the money, would I buy this product? Why or why not?

Terms related to advertisements

Slogan:	Words that are linked to a product and that are easy to remember (for example, “Finger-licking good”).
Logo:	A visual design, sometimes including letters, words or symbols, that is the official sign of a company or organisation (for example, the Nike tick).
Font:	The style and shape of printed letters, often especially chosen for emphasis in advertisements or cartoons.
Target market:	The type of people an advertisement wants to attract (for example, fashionable young people; wealthy business people).
Layout:	The way the advertisement is set out on the page so that certain words and pictures attract attention.
Language use:	The choice of words and ways of saying things (for example, the use of slang to sell jeans to young buyers; formal language used to sell banking services to business people; dramatic language used to sell adventure equipment; repetition used to make the reader remember the message).
Figures of speech:	The use of metaphor, simile, hyperbole (great exaggeration), onomatopoeia, puns, personification and alliteration (for example, hyperbole and alliteration used together: ‘Betty bakes the best buns in the world’).
Sound devices:	Words chosen for the effect of their sounds (for example, onomatopoeia and alliteration used together: ‘Shush, baby’s sleeping, it’s time for a soothing sip of rooibos tea’).

notes

Analysing advertisements

To answer questions on advertisements, you need to:

- Understand what the words in the advertisement mean; and understand what is shown in the advertisement drawings or pictures;
- Pay attention to how the words and the pictures work together to persuade the reader to buy a product or do what the advertisement suggests (for example, a road safety advertisement may ask that drivers drive slowly);
- Understand how the layout of the advertisement and the use of fonts attracts the reader’s attention;
- Pay attention to how punctuation has been used; and
- Notice the use of figures of speech.

In the exam, the advertisement question is worth 10 out of 80 marks for Paper 1.

The exam question will include an advertisement made up of words and images. You will be required to answer questions about this advertisement.

4. Analysing a cartoon

A cartoon is a single drawing, often accompanied by words. A cartoon may be:

- Amusing, in order to make us laugh; or
- Serious, in order to draw attention to something the cartoonist wants people to think about (for example, an event that is in the news).

A cartoon strip is a series of drawings where each separate drawing tells part of the story. Each separate drawing is called a frame. The story in a cartoon strip usually builds up to, and ends with, a punch line. A punch line consists of the last few words of a story which make that story amusing or clever (or both). In a cartoon strip, both the words and the drawing in the final frame contribute to the punch line.

Like single cartoons, cartoon strips may also be amusing or serious (or both). Cartoons and cartoon strips may use satire. Satire makes fun of people, especially public figures such as politicians, in order to criticise them.

vocab

Satire: Making fun of people in order to criticise them.

Caricature of Didier Drogba

Cartoons may include people, animals or imaginary creatures, or all three. Cartoonists (people who draw cartoons) may change or exaggerate some of the features of these figures. For example, people may have huge heads or skinny legs, animals may wear clothes and talk. A cartoonist commenting on current affairs may draw a person's head bigger than it is in real life, or emphasise his or her nose, his or her glasses, or his or her hair, for example. This is called a caricature.

When you study cartoons or cartoon strips, think about the following:

- Is this meant to make me laugh or to think seriously about something, or to do both?
- What do I notice about the body language of each person or animal in the frames?
- What do I notice about the font and size used for the words?
- What do I notice about the punctuation?
- What connections can I make between the words and the drawings?

notes

Analysing cartoons

To answer questions on cartoons, you need to:

- Understand the 'message' or point of a serious cartoon (i.e. one that is making a comment about something in society that the cartoonist is concerned about) and understand the joke in an amusing cartoon;
- Understand that the way people, animals or objects are drawn in the cartoon affects the meaning of the cartoon (for example, body language and facial expressions);
- Understand how the way words are written in the cartoon (for example, font size, use of capital letters and bold type) affects meaning; and
- Understand how punctuation is used to affect the meaning of the cartoon.

cartoons whenever you get the chance!*

4.1 What is expected from you in the exam?

In the exam, the cartoon question is worth 10 out of 80 marks for Paper 1.

The exam question will include a cartoon made up of images and words. You will be required to answer all the questions about this cartoon.

The exam is two hours long and you should spend about 10 minutes on the cartoon question.

5. Language

This part of Section C is a challenge to prepare for because the examiners test your knowledge of many different aspects of language:

- Grammar
- Punctuation
- Vocabulary
- Spelling
- Abbreviations

In the exam, these aspects of language will be tested by answering questions based on:

- A word extract; and
- A picture with a short text.

This section focuses on the following aspects of grammar, punctuation and vocabulary:

5.1 Verb tenses

5.2 Subject/verb agreement (concord) and singular/plural conversion

5.3 Verbs in active and passive voice

5.4 Question tags

5.5 Direct and indirect speech (reported speech)

5.6 Negative sentences

5.7 Combining two short sentences into one longer sentence

5.8 The apostrophe: when and how to use it

5.9 Prepositions

5.10 Vocabulary

The meanings of words; knowledge of different forms of the same word; spelling of words.

5.11 Language and editing skills in context

5.12 What is expected of you in the exam?

To improve your language skills, read as much English as possible. Reading will improve your grammar, punctuation, vocabulary and spelling.

Also work through this section carefully. It will help you to revise many rules of language.

And look at the Mind the Gap Paper 3: Writing study guide. It gives you information about how writers use language.

5.1 Verb tenses

Several of the questions require you to know how the different tenses of verbs are formed (for example, those on question tags, active and passive voice, reported speech.) It is a good idea to revise these in your language textbook.

Below is a verb tense table for the regular verb 'to walk' to help you to revise the different forms that a regular verb may take in the active voice.

'to walk'	Present	Past	Future	Conditional
Simple	I walk. He/she walks.	I walked. He/she walked.	I will walk. He/she will walk.	I would walk He/she would walk.
Continuous	I am walking. He/she is walking. We are walking.	I was walking. He/she was walking. We were walking.	I will be walking. He/she will be walking.	I would be walking. He/she would be walking.
Perfect	I have walked. He/she has walked.	I had walked. He/she had walked.	I will have walked. He/she will have walked.	I would have walked. He/she would have walked.
Perfect and Continuous	I have been walking. He/she has been walking.	I had been walking. He/she had been walking.	I will have been walking. He/she will have been walking.	I would have been walking. He/she would have been walking.

There are also many irregular verbs, including commonly used verbs such as 'to be', 'to have', 'to eat', 'to sing', 'to run' and many others which take different forms in the various tenses. You need to become familiar with these by studying them in your language textbook and by noticing them whenever you read.

Worked examples: Verb tenses

Sometimes an exam question requires knowledge of the correct form of the verb in a particular tense.

1. Rewrite the following sentence in the past tense:

She's healthy and I love her. (2)

Correct answer: She was healthy and I loved her. (2)

In the past tense, the contracted form 'She's' (meaning 'She is') has to be written as a full verb ('was'). 'To love' is a regular verb so the past tense is formed by adding 'ed'. Because 'love' already ends in 'e', only the 'd' is added.

2. Rewrite the sentence in the future tense:

She has received numerous humanitarian awards. (1)

Correct answer: She will receive numerous humanitarian awards. (1)

The future tense requires the use of 'will' with the base form of the verb ('receive').

3. Rewrite the following sentence in the present tense:

I wanted to say I was in awe of him. (2)

Correct answer: I want to say I am in awe of him. (2)

This question is for 2 marks because two verbs need to change.

In this case 'wanted' becomes 'want' (a regular verb) and 'I was' (first person, past tense) becomes 'I am' (first person, present tense of the irregular verb 'to be').

If the question is for 2 marks, you know that there are two changes that need to be made to the sentence.

vocab

Concord: The agreement between words in a sentence. For example, if the noun is plural, the verb is also plural.

5.2 Subject/verb agreement (concord)

In English, all the words in a sentence that have a special kind of 'connection' with each other must be in the same form (that is, they must be all singular or all plural). This special connection is discussed in this section.

If the noun or pronoun in the subject of the sentence is plural, then the verb must be plural. If the noun or pronoun is singular, then the verb must be singular.

The subject of a sentence is a noun, a pronoun, or a phrase (a group of words without a verb) which includes a noun. For example:

- The policeman (noun) arrested the robbers.
- He (pronoun) arrested the robbers.
- The tall, strong policeman (phrase) arrested the robbers.

The exam will test your knowledge of this part of English grammar in two ways:

- By asking you to rewrite a singular sentence in plural form
- By asking you to correct an error of subject/verb or pronoun/noun agreement.

Worked examples: Subject/verb agreement (concord)

Read the examples from past exam papers below. This will help you to understand this part of English grammar and to answer questions of this kind correctly in the exam.

1. Rewrite the following sentence in the plural form:

That mother and baby still move in my thoughts. (4)

Correct answer: Those mothers and babies still move in our thoughts.

To answer correctly you need to know the following:

- (i) The plural form of 'this' is 'these'; and the plural form of 'that' is 'those'.
- (ii) To form the plural of 'mother', just add 's'; but to form the plural of 'baby', change the 'y' to 'ies'.
- (iii) Although 'thoughts' is already in plural form, to show that these are the thoughts of more than one person, change 'my' (singular first person) to 'our' (plural first person).

2. Correct the single error in the following sentence:

... my heart was in my throat and a thousand thoughts was racing through my mind. (1)

Note that question 1 is worth 4 marks, so you need to make four changes in the sentence.

Correct answer: ... my heart was in my throat and a thousand thoughts were racing through my mind.

The noun 'thoughts' is plural, therefore it must be followed by the plural verb form 'were', not the singular form 'was'.

3. Rewrite the following sentence in the plural form:

The Minister of Education worked tirelessly. (1)

Correct answer: The Ministers of Education worked tirelessly.

The only change you can make to this sentence is to the number of ministers in the subject. Education is never written with an 's', and in the past tense the verb has the same form for both singular and plural. The question is for one mark, so this means only one change is required.

4. Correct the single error in the following sentence:

However, it is possibly due to her warm personality that she make an impact on people. (1)

Correct answer: However, it is possibly due to her warm personality that she makes an impact on people.

'She' is a third person singular subject and 'make' is a present tense verb. In English, when the subject is third person singular (for example, he, she, it, Jabu, Cindy) in the present tense, the verb always ends in 's'.

5. Correct the single error in the following sentence:

His face were still partially paralysed and he spoke in a soft voice. (1)

Correct answer: His face was still partially paralysed and he spoke in a soft voice.

'His face' is a singular subject and so the correct singular past tense form of the verb 'to be' is 'was'. "Were" is the plural form.

6. Correct the single error in the following sentence:

Robert Phipps, a body language expert, tells you how to interpret this non-verbal clues. (1)

Correct answer: Robert Phipps, a body language expert, tells you how to interpret these non-verbal clues.

To answer correctly you need to know that 'non-verbal clues' is plural, so the correct form is the plural 'these', not the singular 'this'.

7. Correct the single error in the following sentence:

Body language make up 50 to 100% of a conversation. (1)

Correct answer: Body language makes up 50 to 100% of a conversation.

'Body language' is singular (i.e. language, not languages) and the sentence is in the present tense. This means that the third person singular present tense form of the verb must be used ('makes'). (1)

8. Rewrite the following sentence in the plural form:

When a person is lying, he tends to become generally less expressive. (4)

An exam question may ask you to correct the single error in a sentence. This will often be a concord error.

Correct answer: When people are lying they tend to become generally less expressive.

The singular subject ('a person'; 'he') must become plural ('people'; 'they') and the form of the verb must agree with the plural subject ('are'; 'tend').

Activity 9

1. Correct the single error in each of the following sentences:

5.3 Verbs in active and passive voice

A verb is in the active voice when its subject does the action. For example: 'The striker scored a goal.' The subject is the striker and the striker is doing the action. To find the subject of a verb ask who or what does the action.

A verb is in the passive voice when the subject 'receives' the action: 'The goal was scored by the striker.' When a sentence is written in passive voice it is possible to leave out the 'doer' of the action: 'The goal was scored.'

Four steps to change a sentence from active voice to passive voice:

1. Underline the verb in the sentence.
2. Divide the sentence into a Subject – Verb – Object.
3. Begin the new sentence with the object.
4. The verb in the passive voice consists of the past participle form with some form of the verb 'to be' or, occasionally, the verb 'got' (for example, 'I was stung by a bee'.)

When you are asked to change a sentence from one voice to the other, make sure that you keep the tense of the original sentence. For example:

- Present continuous tense

Active voice: The striker is scoring a goal.

Passive voice: A goal is being scored by the striker.

- Perfect tense

Active voice: The striker has scored a goal.

Passive voice: A goal has been scored by the striker.

- Simple future tense

Active voice: The striker will score a goal.

Passive voice: A goal will be scored by the striker.

Answers to Activity 10

5.4 Question tags

In English, questions can be asked in various ways. For example, this can be done by putting one of the 'W-H' words ('Who', 'What', 'Where', 'When', 'Why') or 'How' at the beginning of a sentence. Another way of asking a question is by adding what is called a question tag at the end of a statement.

There are many ways that a sentence written as a statement changes when a question tag is added to it:

- If the verb in the statement is in the negative form, the verb in the tag is in the positive form.

Statement: He didn't always feel this way.

Question: He didn't always feel this way, did he?

- If the verb in the statement is in the positive form, the verb in the tag is in the negative form.

Statement: The blind immigrants were treated badly.

Question: The blind immigrants were treated badly, weren't they?

- When the verb in the tag is in the negative form, it is written as a contraction: 'weren't' is correct but "were not" is incorrect in a question tag.

- The verb in the statement and the verb in the question tag must be in the same tense. For example:

Graça Machel is a really wonderful person, isn't she?

Here, both verbs are in present tense.

- Sometimes a different verb needs to be used in the question tag. For example:

Most people cross their arms if they are feeling defensive, don't they?

- The subject in the statement changes to a pronoun in the question tag. For example:

The blind immigrants were treated badly, weren't they?

A singular pronoun is used for a singular subject and a plural pronoun is used for plural subject.

- There must be a comma before the start of the question tag.
- The question tag must end with a question mark.

vocab

Contraction: A shortened form of a word; or two words that are combined into one. For example, 'doesn't' is a contraction of 'does not'.

A question tag comes at the end of a question, doesn't it?

Activity 11

5.5 Direct and indirect speech

Indirect speech is also called reported speech.

Direct speech refers to the actual words spoken or written by someone. When someone else uses these exact words, that person 'quotes' them. The words are put in quotation marks and all other punctuation marks used in the sentence will be captured inside these quotation marks.

When someone else reports what someone said without using the exact words, they use indirect or reported speech.

Read the example of the same sentence written in direct speech and reported speech.

Direct speech:

Nosipho said, "My family will be going to a soccer match next Saturday."

Reported speech:

Nosipho said that her family would be going to a soccer match the following Saturday.

Here are the differences between the two sentences:

- The comma and the quotation marks are not used in reported speech.
- The form of the verb changes in reported speech. (In this example, 'will' changes to 'would'.)

- The time word changes. (In this example, 'next' changes to 'the following'.)
- The word 'that' is used to introduce the new version of the words which were spoken.

Rules for changing direct speech to indirect (reported) speech

1. In sentences that start with a present tense verb, only the pronouns change. For example:
Direct speech: He says: 'I am sorry.'
Reported speech: He says (that) he is sorry.
 In sentences that start with a past tense verb, the tense becomes one tense 'older'. The pronouns and time words also change.
 For example:
Direct speech: He said: 'I am sick.'
Reported speech: He said (that) he was sick.
2. In reported speech there are no quotation marks, but you add a conjunction such as 'that' or 'whether'. For example:
 Sibongile asked whether I would be going to the party.
3. The tenses 'backshift' (go back in time) as follows:
  - The simple present tense changes to the simple past tense. For example, go /goes becomes went; walk/walks becomes walked.
  - The past simple tense changes to the past perfect tense. For example, went becomes had gone; walked becomes had walked.
  - The present perfect tense changes to the past perfect tense. For example, has gone becomes had gone; has walked becomes had walked.
  - The present continuous tense changes to the past continuous tense. For example, am walking becomes was walking.
4. Some pronouns change: 'I' becomes 'he' or 'she'; 'we' becomes 'they'; 'us' becomes 'them'; 'our' becomes 'their'.
5. In direct speech, punctuation marks are used to show tone of voice or expression. These are not used in reported speech.
 In reported speech, tone and expression are sometimes shown through the use of words.
 For example:
Direct speech: 'We've won the competition!' the boys shouted.
Reported speech: The boys shouted that they had won the competition.
6. Time words change. For example:
  - 'now' becomes 'then'
  - 'today' becomes 'that day'
  - 'tomorrow' becomes 'the next day'
  - 'last week/month/year' becomes 'the week/month/year before'
  - 'next week/month/year' becomes 'the following week/month/year'.
7. The words 'this' and 'that' change to 'these' and 'those'.

Direct speech uses quotation marks; reported speech does not.

Worked examples: Direct and indirect speech

Rewrite the following sentence in reported speech:

1. The young lady said, "I can't give my baby a good life here." (4)

Correct answer: The young lady said that she couldn't give her baby a good life there.

2. Graça Machel said, "It is something you give a young girl that can never be taken away." (3)

Correct answer: Graça Machel said that it was something you gave a young girl that could never be taken away.

3. He wanted to say, "I will never forget you or your parents and the sacrifices you have made." (3)

Correct answer: He wanted to say that he would never forget him (OR her) or his (OR her) parents and the sacrifices they had made.

4. Yesterday Robert Phipps said, "Mary, your eyes are the windows to your soul." (3)

Correct answer: The previous day (OR The day before) Robert Phipps told Mary that her eyes were the windows to her soul.

Activity 12

Rewrite each of the following sentences in reported speech:

1. Nompumelelo said, "My favourite TV programme is Muvhango." (3)
2. Mpumi said, "The story has too many characters for me and so I get confused." (3)
3. "Are you planning to watch the programme even though it's confusing for you?" Thulani asked. (5)
4. "It will depend on whether you can help me understand these characters," Mpumi replied. (6)

[17]

Answers to Activity 12

1. Nompumelelo said that ✓ Muvhango was ✓ her ✓ favourite TV programme. (3)
2. Mpumi said that ✓ the story had ✓ too many characters for her and so she got ✓ confused. (3)
3. Thulani asked whether ✓ she ✓ was planning ✓✓ to watch the programme even though it was ✓ confusing for her. (5)
4. Mpumi replied that ✓ it would ✓ depend on whether he ✓ (OR Thulani) could help her ✓ understand those ✓ characters. (6)

[17]

The number of marks after each question tells you how many changes you must make in the sentence.

5.6 Negative sentences

In the exam, you may be tested on your knowledge of how to change a positive statement into a negative one.

There are many ways that a sentence written as a positive statement changes when it is written in the negative:

- Two words need to be added: (i) a form of the auxiliary verb 'do'; and (ii) 'not'. An auxiliary verb is used with another verb to form negative sentences or questions or tenses. In English, the auxiliary or helping verbs are be, have and do.
- The tense of the auxiliary verb must be the same as the tense of the verb in the positive sentence. For example, 'understands' becomes 'does not understand' (simple present tense); 'failed' becomes 'did not fail' (simple past tense).
- In the negative form, the ending of the main verb changes. For example, 'excludes' becomes 'does not exclude'; 'failed' becomes 'did not fail'.
- In the present tense, the third person singular form of the auxiliary verb 'do' is 'does'.

In English, the auxiliary or helping verbs are be, have and do.

Worked examples: Negative sentences

Rewrite the following sentence in the negative:

1. The child belongs with her mother.

Correct answer: The child does not belong with her mother.

2. She became a Dame Commander of the Order of the British Empire.

Correct answer: She did not become a Dame Commander of the Order of the British Empire.

3. Words failed me.

Correct answer: Words did not fail me.

4. Robert understands body language very well.

Correct answer: Robert does not understand body language very well.

5. A well-balanced diet excludes vegetables.

Correct answer: A well-balanced diet does not exclude vegetables.

Note that the negative of a sentence DOES NOT always mean the opposite of a positive sentence.
For example: 'He never does his work.'
The negative is: 'He doesn't ever do his work.'
The opposite would be: 'He always does his work.'

Activity 13

1. The guitarist plays very well. (1)
  2. She seems to be really enjoying herself. (1)
  3. Last week the group played in Cape Town. (1)

5.7 Combining two short sentences into one longer sentence

It is useful to be able to combine short sentences into longer ones, not only to answer a question in the Language paper, but when you write a report, a letter or an essay, for example.

Here are some ways to join two sentences into a longer one:

- When two sentences are combined, pronouns are used in the second part of the sentence. A sentence can be combined with the word 'but'. For example:

The mother loved her child dearly. Poverty forced the mother to give the child up for adoption.

becomes 'The mother loved her child dearly but poverty forced her to give him/her up for adoption.'

- Combine sentences using the word 'who'. For example:

Miriam Makeba was one of the greatest performers South Africa has ever produced. Miriam Makeba spent many years in exile.

becomes 'Miriam Makeba, who was one of the greatest performers South Africa has ever produced, spent many years in exile'.

A complex sentence always has two clauses: a main and a subordinate (secondary) clause. Miriam Makeba was one of the greatest performers South Africa has ever produced is the main clause as it can stand alone. When you use 'who' instead of 'Miriam Makeba' in the second sentence, it becomes who spent many years in exile which is a subordinate clause as it cannot stand alone.

When the subordinate clause comes between the subject ('Miriam Makeba') and the verb in the main clause ('spent') there must be a comma immediately before and immediately after it. For example, 'Miriam Makeba, who was one of the greatest performers South Africa has ever produced, spent many years in exile'.

- Combine sentences into a single sentence starting with the word 'when'. For example:

I saw Mark again after his graduation. Mark was feeling great.

becomes 'When I saw Mark again after his graduation, he was feeling great.'

- Combine sentences into a single sentence starting with the word 'if'. For example:

Your health improves. You stop eating junk food.

becomes 'If you stop eating junk food, your health will improve.'

A combined sentence is also called a complex sentence.

vocab

A clause: A group of words that contains a verb.

hint

In the second part of this sentence, use a pronoun ("he") instead of repeating the proper noun (Mark).

Never combine two sentences by just using a comma. Look carefully at the examples of the joining words used on pages 54 and 55 to combine two sentences.

Activity 14

1. Combine the following sentences into a single sentence, using the word 'although':
The organisers expect many people to attend the concert.
The tickets are expensive. (2)
2. Combine the following sentences into ONE complex sentence, using the word 'which':
The province of KwaZulu-Natal is popular with tourists.
The province has beautiful beaches, game reserves and majestic mountains. (2)
3. Combine the following sentences into a single sentence, using the word 'if':
You exercise every day.
You will get fit. (2)
4. Combine the following sentences into a single sentence, beginning with 'After':

The children felt sick. (2)
5. Combine the following sentences into ONE complex sentence, using the word 'that':
The team won the race in record time.
The team has been training with an Olympic sprinter. (2)

5.8 The apostrophe: when and how to use it

In writing, the apostrophe sign (') is used for two purposes:

Firstly, the apostrophe is used to show that letters have been left out (for example, 'do not' becomes 'don't'; 'I will' becomes 'I'll'; 'it is' becomes 'it's'). Another name for the shortened form of the word is the contracted form (i.e. the word has shrunk, or contracted).

Secondly, the apostrophe is used to show that something relates to or belongs to or is possessed by someone or something (e.g. 'Sam's book'; 'the players' uniforms'). In this case the apostrophe is used before the 's' in the singular and after the 's' in the plural.

Worked examples: The apostrophe

1. Why has an apostrophe been used in the underlined word in the following sentence?

Mpho's commitment to education comes from her training as a teacher.

Answer: It shows that the commitment to education belongs to Mpho/ was Mpho's own (shows ownership).

2. Rewrite the underlined contracted word in full:

When Mark needed to spell a word, he'd nod 'yes'.

Answer: he would.

(The first verb in the sentence ('needed') is in the past tense, so the word that you write needs to be in the past tense, as part of the verb 'nod'.)

3. Correct the SINGLE error in the following sentence

Most of us are comfortable with a few second's eye contact.

Answer: Most of us are comfortable with a few seconds' eye contact.

('Seconds' is plural (not one second, but a few seconds), so the apostrophe to indicate belonging/possession must come after the 's'.)

4. Correct the SINGLE error in the following sentence:

'Have one of these,' says the tall man, popping open a pod and shaking it's contents into my hands.

Answer: 'Have one of these,' says the tall man, popping open a pod and shaking its contents into my hands.

(In this sentence, 'its' does not mean 'it is'. It is a pronoun and therefore the word does not have an apostrophe.)

Note that 'it's' is written with an apostrophe only when the writer means 'it is'. In a sentence such as, 'The dog chased its tail', there is no apostrophe because 'its' does not mean 'it is' here.

Activity 15

1. Correct the SINGLE error in each of the following sentences:
    - a. Please collect the childrens' medicine from the clinic. (1)
    - b. 'Mr President, its a great pleasure to meet you,' the young girl said. (1)
    - c. The doctors husband does the accounts for her practice because he is an accountant. (1)
  2. Rewrite only the underlined word in the following sentences in full:
    - a. I wish you'd asked me. (1)
    - b. I could've given you a lift. (1)
    - c. Next time we'll do that. (1)
    - d. You can't rely on the bus being on time. (1)
    - e. You're right about that! (1)
- [8]

Answers to Activity 15

1. a. Please collect the children's medicine from the clinic. ✓ (1)
(In this sentence the medicine belongs to the children and the apostrophe indicates this ownership.)
  - b. 'Mr President, it's a great pleasure to meet you,' the young girl said. ✓ (1)
(In this sentence 'it's' is a shortened (contracted) form of 'it is'.)
  - c. The doctor's husband does the accounts for her practice because he is an accountant. ✓ (1)
(The 'doctor's husband' means the husband of the doctor – ownership is shown by means of the apostrophe.)
  2. a. you had ✓ (1)
  - b. could have ✓ (1)
  - c. we will ✓ (1)
  - d. cannot ✓ (1)
  - e. you are ✓ (1)

5.9 Prepositions

A preposition is a kind of linking word. Prepositions link nouns with other nouns, or pronouns. They are used to express several kinds of meaning.

Here are some examples of prepositions:

- Possession (having):

The books of the student (books and student are linked).

The house with a red roof (house and roof are linked).

- Time:

Two days before the weekend ('days' and 'weekend' are linked).

At soccer practice after school ('soccer practice' and 'school' are linked).

- Direction:

He ran towards the taxi rank ('he' and 'taxi rank' are linked).

A metre to the left ('metre' and 'left' are linked).

- Position:

She is under the table ('she' and 'table' are linked).

The furniture beside the window ('furniture' and 'window' are linked).

- Place:

The party at my house ('party' and 'house' are linked).

The shoes beneath the bed ('shoes' and 'bed' are linked).

An easy way to remember prepositions is to think of the word position: where people and things are in relation to one another.

Worked examples: Prepositions

1. Choose the correct word from those given in brackets:

The guards of the security company had to appear (in/before) court the next day.

Answer: in

(This is a tricky question! The phrase 'in court' refers to the place where the guards had to appear. If the sentence had included 'the' before court, it would refer to the people (lawyers, judges, etc.) and then the correct answer would be 'before the court'.)

2. Choose the correct word to complete the following sentence.

Write down only the question number and the letter (A – D).

Graça Machel has been an inspiration ... women around the world.

A for

B to

C by

D with

Answer: 2 B

The more you read English, the more practice you will get in using prepositions correctly.

3. Correct the SINGLE error in the following sentence:

His parents insisted he was a fighter; he would get through this and go onto attend university.

Answer: His parents insisted he was a fighter; he would get through this and go on to attend university. (When it is written as one word, the preposition 'onto' describes movement to a position on the surface of something: 'The cat jumped onto the table'.)

4. Complete the following sentence by writing down only the missing word:

Research has shown that a diet without meat is associated ... a lower risk of diabetes, heart disease, hypertension and some cancers.

Answer: with

(In English, the word 'associated' is usually followed by the preposition 'with'. For example: 'Two benefits usually associated with exercise are increased fitness and improved sleeping habits'.)

Activity 16

1. Choose the correct word to complete the following sentence:

The money was hidden _____ the mattress.

- a. on
- b. under
- c. at
- d. by

2. Choose the correct word to complete the following sentence:

My sister will come _____ me to the meeting.

- a. for
- b. to
- c. with
- d. beside

(1)

3. Choose the correct word from those given in brackets:

The meeting will be held (at / in) Johannesburg on Saturday.

[3]

The preposition 'in' is used with the name of a town or city. The preposition 'at' is used for a particular place, for example, 'at my house' or 'at the club house'.

Answers to Activity 16

5.10 Vocabulary

The meanings of words; knowledge of different forms of the same word; spelling of words and degrees of comparison

In this section of the exam there are usually some grammar questions that require you to know:

- The meaning of particular words;
- How a word changes its form as a noun, verb, adjective or adverb.
For example, 'competition' (noun); 'compete' (verb); 'competitive' (adjective); 'competitively' (adverb);
- The correct spelling of words;
- Synonyms (words similar in meaning);
Antonyms (words opposite in meaning);
Homophones (words that sound the same but are spelt differently and have different meanings); and
Homonyms (words spelt and pronounced the same way, but with different meanings); and
- What abbreviations and acronyms stand for.

Worked examples: Vocabulary

1. Correct the SINGLE error in the following sentence:

'She's healthy and I love her,' she continued calm.

Answer: 'She's healthy and I love her,' she continued calmly.

(The word 'calm' is an adjective, but in this sentence the adverb 'calmly' is required because it describes how the woman continued speaking, i.e. it adds further information to the verb 'continued'.)

2. Give the correct form of the words in brackets:

According to the mother, her baby is the (beautiful) of all those at the centre.

Answer: most beautiful

(The mother is comparing her baby to the many babies at the centre. The degrees of comparison for the adjective 'beautiful' are: beautiful; more beautiful; most beautiful. So the superlative form of the adjective 'beautiful' must be used: 'most beautiful', as this is the most beautiful baby of them all!)

3. Correct the SINGLE error in the following sentence:

The teacher never lost patients, even though the class was often rowdy.

Answer: The teacher never lost patience, even though the class was often rowdy.

(‘Patients’ and ‘patience’ have been confused because they are homophones (words which sound the same but are spelt differently and have different meanings).

4. Choose the correct dictionary entries from the following list to complete the sentence below.

immobile adj. 1. not moving 2. not able to move

DERIVATIVES immobility n

immobilise verb to make something unable to move or work

DERIVATIVES immobilisation n

Mark’s illness caused him to become (a) ... . However, this (b) ... did not prevent him from being successful.

Answer: (a) immobile (b) immobility

5. Correct the SINGLE error in the following sentence:

If you are training someone, it is usefull to know how his mind works.

Answer: If you are training someone, it is useful to know how his mind works.

(The word ‘full’ (meaning containing as much or as many as possible) is spelt with a double ‘ll’. Words that end in ‘ful’ for example, ‘useful’, ‘beautiful’, ‘dreadful’, ‘wonderful’ have only one ‘l’.)

6. Give the correct form of the words in brackets:

Robert Phipps has (information) us about the importance of studying someone’s eyes closely.

Answer: informed

(The answer has to be part of the verb ‘has _____’, so the noun ‘information’ has to change to ‘informed’.)

7. Give the correct form of the words in brackets:

Having enough money makes you (a) (independence). The more money you have, the (b) (happy) you might be.

Answer: (a) independent (b) happier

(‘independent’ is an adjective that can be used to describe a person. ‘happier’ is correct because the comparative form of the adjective ‘happy’ is needed - ‘the more... the happier’.)

5.11 Language and editing skills in context

In the language and editing section of the exam, you will be tested on your grammar, punctuation and vocabulary skills by answering questions based on:

- A prose (word) extract; and
- A picture with a short text.

Here is an example of a prose extract and a picture question from a past exam paper.

Activity 18

Read the following passage, which contains some deliberate errors, and then answer the questions.

WHY KINDNESS IS GOOD FOR YOU

The idea of a universal bond of sharing connects all humanity – ubuntu – is as old as the hills in black South African culture.

Imagine, for a minute, a world were everyone is just a little kinder. When you are trying to merge into traffic, someone let's you in. At the supermarket, you allow a person in a hurry to go ahead of you in the checkout queue. You get back to your car and find someone have put money in the parking meter. A new theory called "survival of the nicest" says that because of kindness, the human race prospered as a species. 5

Kindness is good for you in other ways. Studies have found that helpful people are less likely to fall ill from chronic disease and tend to have better immune systems. "A strong correlation exists between the well-being, happiness and health of people who are kind," wrote Professor Stephen Post. 10

Kindness has another simalarity with happiness: it cannot be bought. Kindness, then, is just a matter of choice. It is an attitude you carry with you that can make a difference, however small, in someone's life. 15
