1. INTRODUCTION

The Curriculum and Assessment Policy Statement (CAPS) for Business Studies outlines the nature and purpose of the subject Business Studies. This guides the philosophy underpinning the teaching and assessment of the subject in Grade 12.

The purpose of these Examination Guidelines is to:

- Outline the format/structure of the Grade 12 question papers for Business Studies.
- Provide clarity on the depth and scope of the content to be assessed in the Grade 12 National Senior Certificate (NSC) Examination in Business Studies.
- Assist teachers to adequately prepare learners for the examinations.
- Serve as a guideline for the setting of various types of questions/formulation of questions when assessing the four main topics of Business Studies as stipulated in the Curriculum Assessment Policy Statements/CAPS.

This document deals with the quarterly, half yearly, trial/preparatory and the final Grade 12 external examinations. It does not deal in any depth with School-Based Assessment (SBA), non-examinations/time constraint examinations.

These Exam Guidelines should be read in conjunction with:

- The National Curriculum Statement (NCS) Curriculum and Assessment Policy Statement (CAPS): Business Studies
- The National Protocol of Assessment (NPA): An addendum to the policy document, the National Senior Certificate: A qualification at Level 4 on the National Qualifications Framework (NQF), regarding the National Protocol for Assessment (Grades R–12)
- The National Policy Pertaining to the Programme and Promotion requirements of the National Curriculum Statement (NPPPP), Grades R–12

Teachers must note that these are only guidelines and changes in the business environment should be taken into consideration when topics are taught.

New/Recent or amended legislation, new developments or changing economic condition which affect the business environment should inform the teaching of Business Studies.

NOTE:

1. It must be emphasised that teachers should not only focus on content, but also link it to the cognitive levels (low, middle and high order thinking) in their teaching and assessment. Teachers are encouraged to consider the following five aspects when teaching and assessing all topics and sub-topics:
 - What? (nature, purpose and knowledge) [low order]
 - How? (skills, knowledge and values) [low and middle order]
 - Why? [middle and higher cognitive levels are stimulated when forming an opinion]
 - Is it working/successful/good/bad? (evaluation/critical analysis/impact [high order] is addressed)
 - Recommendations for improvement, where applicable.
2. The above aspects will guide teachers to set/design formal assessment activities that will address all cognitive levels. Learners are equipped to respond to questions/tasks that require different levels of cognitive thinking and difficulty.
3. ALL assessment tasks (informal and formal) should contain questions/instructions that cover all cognitive levels that range from simple to complex, e.g. list/outline/identify/discuss/analyse/critically evaluate/evaluate/suggest/recommend/advise.

GUIDELINES FOR ANSWERING BUSINESS STUDIES QUESTION PAPERS

Planning and organisation is extremely important. A well-planned work schedule/study timetable will ensure the completion of the curriculum which will adequately prepare learners for the end-of-the-year examination.

Preparation for quality responses

- Use the above-mentioned resource materials to prepare learners for answering different TYPES of questions.
- Remember that each TOPIC can be tested with objective, short, paragraph or essay type questions.
- An essay question may include a combination of topics and subtopics.
- Take particular note of how the ACTION WORDS/VERBS listed below, could be used in phrasing various/different types of questions, e.g.:
 - Advise, name, state, state, outline, motivate, recommend, suggest, (list not exhaustive) do not usually require much depth in candidates' responses. Therefore, the mark allocation for each statement/answer appears at the end.
 - Define, describe, explain, discuss, elaborate, distinguish, differentiate, compare, tabulate, justify, analyse, evaluate, critically evaluate (list not exhaustive) require a greater depth of understanding, application and reasoning. Therefore, the marks must be allocated more objectively (part-marking) to ensure that assessing is conducted according to established norms so that uniformity, consistency and fairness are achieved.
- Familiarise learners with the Notes to Markers included with the marking guidelines for NSC question papers, with specific reference to the November 2020 marking guidelines and beyond (to accommodate latest additions/changes/adjustments with regards to the allocation of marks and marking principles).
- When analysing topics and subtopics, study the last column (a guide to core content).
- The mark allocation will determine the length and time to be spent on the question.
- Learners must be encouraged to number questions correctly as per the question paper.
- Learners must keep abreast of current developments in legislation and the industry to be able to provide recent examples in order to obtain marks for originality in essay questions. Originality should not be seen as a separate section in an essay type question, but rather as an example that will either strengthen a point made, or enhance the discussion of the topic of the essay.

TYPES OF QUESTIONS

SECTION A

Multiple-choice, matching, choosing the correct concept/terminology, etc. (short and objective questions):

These types of questions require learners to have a thorough knowledge of the subject and they have to exercise logic and good insight.

The recommended approach to multiple-choice questions is to read and analyse the statement carefully. Thereafter, study the alternatives carefully and eliminate the incorrect options. Review the remaining possible answers and choose the correct one.

SECTION B

Paragraph style, case studies and source-based questions – shorter type questions

- Learners must read and understand the information presented.
- Questions can be direct or indirect. These include source-based questions and case studies.
- Learners must possess a broader/deeper understanding of the broad topics and sub- topics to be able to, motivate, evaluate, analyse, recommend, suggest, advise, etc.
- Learners will be required to provide their opinion, solve problems and make recommendations related to the question.
- Questions range from easy to difficult in terms of cognitive levels and levels/degrees of difficulty. (TAKE NOTE of the revised Bloom's taxonomy.)

SECTION C

Longer/Essay type of questions

Learners must be able to organise information on a topic systematically and logically to be able to evaluate/analyse/motivate/suggest/recommend and elaborate on topics extracted from given case studies, scenarios etc. Learners must enhance or support their answers/viewpoints with recent examples to obtain marks for originality.

Learners must be familiar with words, such as 'challenges' and 'areas of concern', so that they are able to identify challenges in the case studies and to make recommendations. It is imperative that learners do not associate the word 'challenges' only with business environments or 'areas' only with geographical regions.

ESSAY-TYPE QUESTIONS CONSIST OF:

1. Introduction (2 x 1) (2)
2. Core Content – Body (headings, subheadings, paragraphs). FULL SENTENCES must be used, but they may be bulleted, where applicable.
46 marks – marked until a maximum of 32 marks has been reached.
3. Conclusion (Learners give their opinion in response to the question/statement) (1 x 2) (2)

The mark allocation for an essay-type of question is generally as follows:

CONTENT			MARKS
Facts	Core content equivalent to 50 marks, including introduction and conclusion, but marked to a maximum of 32 marks.		32
Layout	Introduction, body and a conclusion		2
Analysis	All headings addressed: 1 (One 'A') Interpretation (16 to 32 marks): 1 (One 'A')		2
Synthesis (marks to be allocated based on the guide shown here)	Factual marks	Synthesis marks	2
	No relevant facts	0
	Some relevant facts	1
	Only relevant facts were given in the essay	2
Originality	Evidence of examples based on recent information, current trends and developments		2
Total Marks			40

Mark allocation for SYNTHESIS:

1. Indicate TWO '-S' ('minus S') marks, if no relevant facts were given. NO synthesis marks will be awarded.
2. Indicate ONE '-S' if some irrelevant facts were given. ONE (1) synthesis mark will be awarded.
3. Indicate NO '-S', if ONLY relevant facts were given. Award TWO (2) marks for synthesis.

NOTE:

Higher-order questions can be drawn from the contents prescribed in the CAPS document. This can take the form of application-type questions, e.g. correlation with practice, justification with reasoning, suggest improvements, compile reports, provide recommendations, evaluate, apply, etc. Note the action verbs that are used in the Examination Guidelines and CAPS document.

4. CONCLUSION

This Examination Guidelines document is meant to articulate the assessment aspirations espoused in the CAPS document. It is therefore not a substitute for the CAPS document which teachers should teach to.

Qualitative curriculum coverage as enunciated in the CAPS cannot be over-emphasised.
